

5 Classic Stag Do Fails to Avoid

from the guys at Best Man's Best Man

You've just been asked to be Best Man, and you're chuffed to bits. It's one of the greatest known honours for the modern male (now that we've slayed all the dragons, that is). Apart from writing a speech your most important task is to organise the Stag Do.

Thing is, if you bugger it up, everyone will remember for a looong time. So, with that in mind, we've put together five cast-iron tips to ensure you don't fall foul of the most common Stag Do Fails...

1. Don't break the bank

Unless you happen to be Matt Damon organising Ben Affleck's Stag Do, the guys in your party will have a budget to stick to. Don't book ludicrously expensive things without clearing it with everyone first, or you might make yourself extremely unpopular.

2. Don't leave it to the last minute

Feeding, watering, housing and entertaining twenty-five drunken idiots in pink mankinis is no mean feat. Don't wait until the week before to book everything in - you don't need that kind of stress!

3. Don't utterly ruin the groom

Pranks and japery are all very well - in fact, they're pretty much essential - but there's a line to be drawn and you could get in a lot of trouble with bridezillas and mothers-in-law if you cross it. If he loses fingers or catches VD from a Bangkok lady-boy, you'll be in the doghouse forever.

4. Don't fly half-way around the world without a plan

If you're taking everyone to Barcelona, be careful not to get so bogged down in flights and passport details that you forget to plan any actual activities. Wandering aimlessly around foreign cities, pissed and getting sporadically mugged isn't a lot of fun.

5. Don't over-complicate things

This isn't rocket science. At the end of the day, a Stag Weekend is about a bunch of blokes getting smashed and making a tit out of the groom. If you try to pack too much in, you'll distract from the real reason you're there (namely writing 'I blow goats' across the sleeping groom's naked butt-cheeks).
